Divide the meeting participants into groups of three or four (depending on the number of participants). Explain to the groups that each person must write down three statements about their previous job, job searches, job skills. Two of these statements must be fact and one fiction. Each participant will have a chance to present his / her statements to the group. It is up to the group to pick which of the three statements is not true.

Bring the smaller groups together to form the larger group and ask three or four participants to share their statements and have the class select the statement that is false.
